Significant Change

From shy and timid to confident and empowered - Maya overcame her fear of public speaking and took the lead in presenting her film to over 500 people, using her voice to advocate for gender equality.
